DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 59-63, 66-84 and 87 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mears (4,454,876; cited by Applicant).

Mears discloses reconstructing a fractured load-bearing pelvis with a reconstruction plate comprising a pair of attachment members 4, 6 and a support member 2 extending from the attachment members (see, e.g., Fig. 1 and col. 1, lines 6-13). The reconstruction plate is at least in "proximity," i.e. at least near, for example, an anterior aspect of the fractured anatomical structure and an acetabular dome. As the support plate provides support to the pelvis, and the quadrilateral plate is a portion of the pelvis, the support plate provides support to the quadrilateral plate. Indeed, as claim 87 recites, the support plate provides support to but does not attach to the quadrilateral plate. The plate is comprised of a biocompatible metal such as stainless steel or titanium, etc. (see col. 1, line 65 - col. 2, line 1). The attachment members have been manipulated such that a curvature has been imparted thereto (see, e.g., Figs 3 and 5). The attachment members include a plurality of areas defining apertures 8, 10 formed therein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments regarding the amended claims filed 14 April 2008 have been considered but are not persuasive.

It is noted that a pelvis necessarily has a quadrilateral plate, this being an anatomical feature thereof. Moreover, as the plate of Mears is at least adjacent to, i.e. next to (and not necessarily directly next to), a quadrilateral plate, and provides support thereto (again, not necessarily directly), it satisfies the limitations in the claims, as set forth above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
